WINEENTHUSIAST

eRobertParker.com

"This single-block Assyrtiko from Florina offers aromas of tropical fruit, flowers and citrus peel, and on the palate, a full-bodied wave of smoke and fruit, with delicious salinity and focus. The wine offers complexity and character, with a lingering finish. It's a good candidate for aging." - Editors Choice

"The 2017 Assyrtiko Ecosystem Aghia Kiriaki is an unoaked single-block wine sourced from Aghia Kiriaki, at 620 to 710 meters in height. This is unoaked and comes in at 13.2% alcohol. This is a little more tightly wound in its youth than the 2016, revisited this issue, but not quite as expressive. That's to be expected from this being a year younger, of course. It took a while (air and some warmth) to open up, but gradually there were some hints of nice fruit here, perhaps even tastier than the 2016's fruit."
