Greek Wines featured in New York Times

The New York Times

The August 22nd article published in the New York Times features some great Greek Wines from Diamond Importers.

WINES OF THE TIMES: From Greece, Surprisingly Tannic Reds of Energy and Balance

Alpha Estate Xinomavro Single Vineyard "Hedgehog" 2016

"The No. 1 bottle in our tasting was a 2016 Alpha Estate xinomavro from the Hedgehog Vineyard in Amyndeon, in the northern Greek region of Macedonia. We found the wine to be spicy, savory, floral and complex, with all the elements in balance. At $23, this wine was our best value in a tasting of overall excellent values."

"Pale cherry color, lively and balanced, with spicy, complex floral and savory flavors."

Domaine Sigalas Mavrotragano/Mandilaria 2017

"No. 2 was a balanced, energetic 2017 from Domaine Sigalas in Santorini, made of two grapes: mavrotragano, an almost extinct Santorini variety that has been revived in recent years, and mandilaria, which originally came from Crete."

"Balanced, energetic and tannic, with aromas and flavors of flowers and exotic fruits."

Kir-Yianni Ramnista Xinomavro 2015

"Also worth noting... the pretty, herbal 2015 Ramnista from Kir-Yianni in Macedonia"

"Juicy and straightforward, with pretty herbal and spicy fruit flavors."
